

If you have been contacted by INFINITE UNCLAIMED ASSETS, LLC, then we have already expended a great deal of effort to locate you. From this point, our goal is to assist you in claiming your interest in the assets we have located. As your representative, we will perform all the tasks necessary to achieve this goal, again at our expense. This includes taking steps to protect your interest in the assets, gathering the necessary evidence to prove your entitlement, and providing the services of legal counsel and professional research. We will see the entire process through until you receive your rightful award of funds.

INFINITE UNCLAIMED ASSETS does not receive any upfront fees and our fee is paid ONLY when your claim is successfully completed and at which point your funds are issued to you. If we are unsuccessful in securing your funds for whatever reason, you owe nothing.

You understandably have questions about the recovery process. While each circumstance is different, the following is a list of the most commonly asked questions we receive and the answers.

What is required of me to continue the account recovery process? Please call our Asset Locator so they may begin the account recovery process and walk you through step by step. Once you choose to retain our services, our Asset Locator will guide you through the entire process. If you have received our letter and not yet made contact with our Asset Locator this is the place to start. After signing and returning the authorization form you received, Infinite Unclaimed Assets can begin to recover the account for you. We can then establish general timelines for the various phases of the recovery process. Our Asset Locator can explain any additional documentation that will be required of you.

How long will the entire account recovery process take? Each situation we encounter is unique and varies in complexity. To ensure that the process is completed in a timely manner, once we get started we encourage you to complete and return all required documents promptly. Also, in part due to applicable statutes of limitations, it is advised that you speak with our Asset Locator immediately if you have any questions about timelines and/or next steps.
